NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

CHICAGO, Feb 13.—The Tribune's New York special says the minority report of the committee to investigate the affairs of the Methodist book concern, is creating much excitement among the Methodists, who propose to demand another investigation and will agitate the subject at the next General Conference. New and Important Railroad Enterprise

THE CHESAPEAKE AND [illegible] RAILWAY—[illegible] A NEW [illegible] WEST [illegible]

(From the New York Times.)

It has transpired that certain eminent capitalists and railroad builders of New York have recently made arrangements to continue and complete that great line of railroad terminating at Richmond on the waters of the Chesapeake and at the mouth of the Big Sandy tributary of the Ohio, a line traversing the States of Virginia and West Virginia. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, which is the title of the new corporation is a consolidation of the old Virginia Central Company and the Covington and Ohio Company, the former having been extended during the twenty years previous to the war nearly to Covington, where it was halted until 1867.

In the meantime the portion between Covington and the Ohio river had been begun and carried on to some extent under State auspices, over $3,000,000 having been expended in construction before the outbreak of hostilities. The control of the franchises and property in Virginia and West Virginia was placed in the hands of Commissioners with power to negotiate with responsible parties for the completion of the great work to the Ohio River, and to surrender the work done in consideration of this service. The franchise has been vested in the Consolidated Company, and the Chesapeake and Ohio Company during the past two years have pushed the line from Covington across the main chain of the Alleghanies, to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles from Richmond and 200 miles from the Ohio river at the Kentucky boundary.

Among the directors of the new organization of the enterprise are C. P. Huntington, of the Central Pacific Railroad, A. A. Low, William H. Aspinwall, David Stewart, Jonas G. Clark, Pliny Fisk and William B. Hatch, of New York and neighboring cities, with Generals Wickham, Anderson, Baldwin and Echols, of Virginia—names which are a guarantee of the energy and fidelity with which the work will be carried through. Proposals are already invited for the heavier portions of the work to be done, and it is thought the westernmost seventy five miles of the line may be completed by the close of this year, and the whole within two years. The old Virginia Central line had achieved a good position before the war, paying good dividends besides its interest liabilities, although then but a local road. Of course, the extension to the Ohio will confer new value on the completed half, and, indeed, raise the whole to the rank of a Great East and West Trunk line.

The opening of another great line between the seaboard and the West is a work of great importance to the country. While railroad extension has been developing in the Western States with marvelous speed the number of lines crossing the Alleghanies has but slowly increased, so that there is, partially, an engorgement of traffic seeking transit over them. One result of this state of things is a state of great financial prosperity for each of the great New York, Pennsylvania or Maryland lines.

The new line it appears possesses advantages in point of grades over the older ones, as also in climatic conditions, while in distances between common points and in the proximity of fuel, it has equal chances. It will, moreover, enjoy a very lucrative traffic from the transportation of coal and iron ores, which are found at different parts of the line, and also from the carriage of Virginia agricultural products to the seaboard.

In the all important matter of grades, the Virginia line has a decided advantage over the older lines. From the Ohio river, at the mouth of the Kanawha to the summit of the Alleghany range, it is established that the line will have a nearly uniform ascent of ten feet to the mile for a distance of 200 miles, the maximum grade being under thirty feet to the mile. Such an achievement is a wonder in engineering science. Grades on our oldest and best roads, and on those built over the Western prairies, frequently exceed double these figures. The average of the Chesapeake and Ohio line will be far lighter than the grades on our trunk lines. East of the Alleghany summit, also, the grades for the greater part are light, eighty feet being the maximum. It is practicable by changing the line, to construct a freight road east of the mountain summit to throw out the grades heavier than thirty feet, and thus place this Company in possession of by far the easiest and shortest attainable line across the Alleghany Mountains.

The length of the Chesapeake and Ohio road is 427 miles, extending from Richmond to the confluence of the Big Sandy river, with the Ohio at the northwest corner of Kentucky. There will be a separate terminus at the mouth of the Kanawha, higher up the Ohio, to connect with the road in central Ohio. The distance between tide water at Richmond and Cincinnati is by this route 562 miles, while by the more northerly lines the distance to tide water at points farther north are 591, 612 and 660 miles respectively. A like saving of distance is, of course, made between Louisville, St. Louis, Memphis and intermediate points. Even Chicago is by this road about the same distance from tide water of the Chesapeake as by the other lines to less favorable harbors.

It must be taken into account that ice never becomes an obstruction to the harbors of the Chesapeake Bay, nor do snows seriously interfere with the running of railroad trains in that latitude. Coal, which is the great lever of modern industry, is also found in inexhaustible quantities along the course of this line through West Virginia. The cannel coal which is so valuable for gas and other uses is found near the Kanawha river in its greatest abundance. It is a coincidence also, that iron ores of the best varieties are found along the central portion of the Chesapeake and Ohio, while at a distance of 100 miles from the iron ore beds there are stored up immense deposits of a very valuable fuel known as the splint coal, which is especially in demand for iron manufacturers, as it is free from sulphur, and will command higher rates by reason of these qualities.

With all these advantages, a direct course, easy grades, proximity of fuel and a fertile country, the completion of the Chesapeake and Ohio [illegible] cannot fail to be of great importance to the States of Virginia and West Virginia, as well as to Kentucky, and in a less degree to the middle Western States. If indeed the new line should not share to any great extent the great East and West freighting business, now carried by the more northerly lines, and those who have looked most closely into the subject believe it can [illegible] will, nevertheless, have an important business from the regions naturally tributary to it. The great fact of its connection with the whole navigation of the Mississippi and branches at a favorite point on the Ohio will alone enable it to carry to and fro the weightier products of the seaboard and the navigable rivers. There is, moreover, a vast expanse of fertile country between Memphis and Big Sandy River which will have no route to the seaboard that can be compared with this. This will be furnished by the Western connecting roads now in progress. Those will tap among others the great grazing region of Central Kentucky.

The tobacco, wheat and grazing lands of Virginia are of themselves sufficient to furnish a very important local traffic.

More prominent than these, however, must be noted the immense capabilities of the [illegible] developing a vast iron manufacturing industry in the Kanawha country. Pittsburg in the growth of the past thirty or forty years and its unrivaled prosperity is due mainly to the contiguity of coal. Now coal of better quality [illegible] variety is found [illegible] while the iron ores are much nearer [illegible] foreign [illegible] the Kanawha than Pittsburg. It is not unreason able to suppose [illegible] therefore that somewhere in the Kanawha Valley there may spring up a city that shall in time far overshadow the Pittsburg of to-day in its manufactures and wealth.

The Lynchburg Va. [illegible] is the authority for the statement that the preacher in that city of whom one of Senator Sumner's correspondents complained, only said with great emphasis and gesture, that the Congress of 1869-70 was a set of infamous saphead.

The Darien Canal

[illegible] SUCCESSFULLY CLAIMED [illegible] OTHERS—ITS ESTIMATES AND [illegible] THE FRENCH SCHEME TO FORESTALL AMERICAN ENTERPRISE

The Panama Mail, of the 17th January gives some interesting particulars relative to the discovery of a new and comparatively easy canal route which has great advantage over all others. This discovery was made by a French engineer. The report proceeds to say:

The proposed canal has its entrance on the Atlantic side at Puerto Escondido, where vessels can anchor in a depth of from 17 to 44 fathoms. Thence the proposed canal follows the Valley of Turgand, and passing behind a small hill called Tarena continues on in the valley of the River Tanela, to the source of this river. The hollow in the chain of hills at its highest point, is here only 56 meters above the level of the sea. The canal would here enter the valley of the Puero (on the Pacific slope), and follow it until reaching the Tuyra, four miles above the point named Santa Maria Real, at which place it enters the river, and thus is brought three miles below the highest point reached by the tide in the river Tuyra. The canal will require 88 kilometers, or 22 leagues of excavation. From the western entrance, at Santa Maria la Real, to the Gulf of San Miguel, by "Boca China," there will then remain 65 kilometers to be navigated in a river which at present has a profundity of from 7 to 20 fathoms. The distance from ocean to ocean will thus be 153 kilometers or 38½ leagues. The hight throughout the proposed line taking the highest and lowest points presents an average of 11 meters 90 centimeters. The canal would be 70 meters at the top, and at the bottom would be 50 meters—thus allowing ample room for the passage of the largest steamer yet built.

The estimated cost of the canal by this route is $70,000,000. The "Colombian Canal International Society" has already closed its subscription list with a capital of $5,000,000, until the sanction of the Colombian Congress to its project shall have been obtained. The report further states that:

"The maps of the Society have been approved by the Admiralty of England (and also by that of France) as the most complete which have been known up to the present time. The following is a brief exposition of the new combination: The United States of Colombia will raise a loan by issuing stock, which will undoubtedly be taken up by the whole commercial world. The character of this loan would of itself guarantee the maintenance of the free transit of the canal. By this means the integrity of the national territory would be preserved, the country would govern [illegible] and work for itself, and would p[illegible] its sovereignty and neutrality through possessing the guarantee of the principal mercantile nations. At the same time an end would be put to the [illegible] of privileges, to the severity of [illegible] laws, and, finally, to all open or [illegible] intrigue for the possession of the Canal. The Government of Colombia would act on its own account upon its own territory, without any kind of responsibility, and free from all fear and all [illegible].

That success will attend the work is undeniable. The facility with which Honduras obtained several millions for the construction of a railroad of slight importance in comparison with this canal, proves that no difficulty will be met with in obtaining the money necessary. If Honduras, in the position in which she is in com[illegible] with the Panama railroad, has [illegible] to [illegible] extent, what may not Colombia [illegible]? The proposed loan would amount to $160,000,000. One-half of this sum would be sufficient to effect the opening of the canal, as will be [illegible] by the calculations below. The other half would [illegible] to the nation, and would enable Colombia to pay off her foreign debt, help the country onward in her career of progress and civilization, [illegible] to establish banks, to foment agriculture and manufactures, better her existing roads, and open up new ones; and, finally, assist in the education of the masses.

The proposed canal could be opened within three to five years, a period which will appear remarkably short to many, but which is easily explained when the experience gained by the works on the Suez Canal is taken into consideration. The shortness of the line, the firmness of the soil, the presence of fresh water and abundance of wood, are all elements which did not favor the immense work which has just been finished. All these were only obtained on the Isthmus of Suez at immense cost, but which are found right at hand on the Isthmus of Darien. From calculations which have been made as to the [illegible] of passengers and quantity of merchandise which would pass through the Colombian Canal, it appears that a rental of about $20,000,000 would yearly be produced. One-half of the net profits contained in this sum, and a quantity of waste land, would be the guarantee offered by Colombia to those from whom she would borrow the $160,000,000. These propositions were submitted to the Government in Bogota last June, by M. Lucien de Puydt, Agent of the International Society founded in Paris in May 1864. The line which it is proposed to adopt is outside the limits of the territory over which the Panama Railroad Company holds a right, and this fact will therefore prevent all reclamations from the Company.

NO MOTHER.—"She has no mother." What a volume of sorrowful truth is comprised in that single utterance, no mother! We must go down the hard, rough path of life and become inured to care and sorrow in their sternest forms before we can take home to our own experience the dread reality—no mother, without a struggle and a tear. But when it is said of a frail young girl just passing from childhood to ward the life of a woman, how sad is the story summed up in that short sentence! Who shall now check the wayward fancies—who shall now bear with the errors and failings of the motherless daughter? Let not the cup of sorrow to be overflowed by the harshness of your bearing, your sympathising coolness. Is she heedless of your doings? Is she forgetful of her duty? Is she careless of her movements? Remember, oh, remember, she has no mother.

And the poor boy, too, with none to care for him or to administer to his comfort. You see him sportive with his companions, perhaps rude, may be at times wicked; he has no mother to warn and chide him; no, no mother to shed her softening influence over him. And when he goes to bed strange fears creep over him and a desolation of spirit that no tongue can express. He is turned out into the world to battle its storms alone, and when pain and weariness press upon him, no words of pitying sympathy fall on his ear, no soft hand soothes and supports him. Remember oh, remember, he has no mother!

WOMEN AS INVENTORS.—A pamphlet has just been issued by Mrs. Gage, showing the honors that have attributed to Eli Whitney, but seems to Greene planned the cotton gin generally. She makes the claim that Mrs. Greene being gained by woman as an inventor, have no better foundation for the fact than this that Mrs. Greene became a business partner with Mr. Whitney in the manufacture of the gin. In other matters, however, women [illegible] have made a good record on the [illegible] of mechanical invention. To the Chinese Empress [illegible] is attributed the invention of silken fabrics between three and four thousand years ago. The honor of braiding the first straw bonnet in the United States [illegible] Miss Betsey Metcalf, of Providence, R. I., and the date is fixed at 1798. Barbara Uttman of Annaberry, Saxony, was the inventor of pillow lace, which has not only contributed largely to gratify the tastes of the [illegible] but has furnished valuable employment to hundreds and thousands of women. To Isabella Cunio and her brother Alexander, who lived at Ravenna, Italy in the thirteenth century, the weight of testimony ascribes the invention of the art of wood engraving. Other examples are given by Mrs. Gage [illegible] to show up for her sex as inventors.

The [illegible] hand sawing and running the [illegible] is about $6,000 each.

Editorial Notes.

Savannah is the second city in the Union in the amount of cotton received,—New Orleans being the first. New Orleans is first also in the list of cotton exporting cities, and New York is second. The exports for the year 1869 were about one-third larger than for 1868.

The bill recently prepared at Washington asking for a grant of lands for the improvement of the Wallamet, contemplates the construction of locks at Oregon City, and other improvements on the upper river. The measure, if adopted, will be an important and beneficial one.

A short time ago Judge Williams introduced a resolution, in the Senate which was adopted, instructing the Secretary of the Treasury to inquire into the expediency of erecting a light-house at Yaquina Bay, and to make estimates for the same. The Light-house Board have agreed to recommend it.

A great "Musical Festival" is to be held at San Francisco next week, to continue for several days. It is gotten up in aid of the Mercantile Library, which institution owes the snug sum of $179,000, and would therefore seem to need some assistance. The people of San Francisco are expected to respond liberally. Mayor Selby, so the dispatches state, has set a good example by purchasing a private box, paying therefor the handsome sum of $3,200.

The Journal of Commerce in its annual compilation of the commerce of New York, states that the total foreign imports at New York in 1869 were $306,357,673, being a gain on any previous calendar year excepting 1866, which exceeded it only by a few dollars. Of this amount, $152,434,901 was entered for consumption; $123,345,075 entered warehouse; $14,789,235 was free goods; and $15,788,462 was specie. The withdrawals from warehouse amounted to $107,998,664. The total exports for 1869 were $227,335,154, of which $187,812,776 was domestic produce; $408,660 foreign free; $7,005,270, foreign dutiable; and $32,108,448 in specie and bullion. Not including specie, there has been a gain during each of the last three quarters of the year, and the total, not reckoning the coin, is larger than for any recent twelve month, which is encouraging.

Alaska.

On the 27th January the report of Capt. Charles Bryant, late Special Agent of the Treasury Department, on the resources and inhabitants of Alaska, was sent to the Senate. Capt. Bryant expresses no opinion as to the actual value of the Territory but describes minutely its characteristics and resources, giving prominence especially to the forests and fisheries which he thinks may be [illegible] of profitable business. [illegible] showing that the natives [illegible] a capacity for labor that will make [illegible] the direction of a more intelligent [illegible] auxiliary in developing the fisheries, [illegible] in all other departments of [illegible] life in [illegible]. After giving an interesting account of the habits of the fur seal on the islands of St. Paul and St. George, Captain Bryant makes the following recommendations in regard to the preservation of the seals and the protection of the natives in their rights without incurring great expense to the Government:

"The seals can be preserved only by placing it in the interests of the natives to guard them as the source whence their support is to be derived; and it is evident, on the other hand, that if deprived of the benefits of the seal fisheries they would have no means of subsistence. * * * I am of opinion, therefore, that the best methods of securing the desired objects is to give to one responsible company the right of purchasing on the islands, at proper prices, according to their market value, a stated number of skins say for the present 100,000 annually, in return for which privilege said company shall give security for the payment of a proper tax to the Government, and to provide for the natives by the sale of goods at reasonable fixed prices, or by the gratuitous distribution of supplies when necessary, and also to care for the sick and maintain schools on the islands for the education of the children."

The report estimates the number of male seals on the Island of St. Paul at 100,000, and of the females, 1,000,000. The value of their skins in London is said to be $3 or $4 each. In a supplementary report, dated Jan. 10, 1870, Captain Bryant shows that the statements of Special Agent Wicker, in regard to the number of skins taken during the past year, (in alleged violation of law) were erroneous and founded on false estimates. It is also stated that General George H. Thomas, when he subsequently visited the islands, not only indorsed the action of the military officers in charge, but advised them to allow a still larger number to be taken, as the natives complained to him that their supply for food was insufficient for their comfortable support. The report concludes as follows:

"It is further stated by Mr. Wicker that a revenue of $500,000 may be annually derived from the seal fisheries, but he does not make it clear how this may be accomplished at the present time, when, according to the best authorities, only 100,000 skins should be annually taken, which are worth, in market, not more than $3 50 each. Whether Mr. Wicker has charged grave misdemeanors upon honest officers and ex-officers of the Government through malice or ignorance I do not know; but feeling a consciousness of having faithfully performed my duty in Alaska, and believing that Lieutenants Barnes and Henderson, the officers in charge of the islands, have been unjustly accused, I have deemed it my duty to submit the facts as above stated."

CURRENT NOTES.

The Milwaukee Wisconsin makes a loud complaint because the Legislature adjourned over Friday till Monday protesting against this "wholesale robbery of the people," and telling the members that their time belongs to the State which pays them their wages, and they should at least work eight hours a day for six days, to complete a week's work.

A lady in Leavenworth has written to a town in Missouri that she is "lectorin on the influence and duties of woman," and would like to "lector for the benefit of the church or Sabbath school, or any individool in that town, for 50 dollars, or for one half, at 50 cents a ticket." She asks her correspondent to "pleas right and let her no what can be dun about it."

The Court reporter of the Cincinnati Gazette has added another new and beautiful word to the language. He informs the world that in the Court of Common Pleas a certain indictment was "nol-led"—meaning, we suppose, that a nol. pros. was entered. If reporters generally follow this precedent, we shall soon have "to nolly" regularly established as an orthodox verb in the newspapers, from which it will pass, we suppose into the dictionaries.

General Carleton, commanding at San Antonio, Texas, who issued the funny order relating to soldiers carrying pistols, has just perpetrated another, in which he says: "It has been observed that soldiers out on pass at night, do not conduct themselves in an orderly manner, and often annoy the citizens by the use of boisterous and profane language. This must stop. A good soldier is always marked by his politeness, his quiet, gentlemanly deportment, a due regard for the reputation of his company, and a pride in the uniform he wears. When that uniform covers a profane brawler, discipline must teach the brawler good manners."

Mr. Wendell Phillips, at a late meeting of the Anti Slavery society, in speaking of the New York Tribune, said he "would like to strip Horace Greely and put him out upon the prairie and say to him, 'Root hog, or die,' and leave him there to work out his own manhood on his favorite theory." He said what was wanted was not soldiers in the South but a man in Washington. "Place such a man as Ben Butler in the White House and the coon would come down." Senators Trumbull and Ross were characterized by him as "half baked lawyers and half fledged statesmen, who tried to pick up the crumbs that fall at the feet of Senator Sumner."

Don Piatt thus describes the personal appearance of James Fisk, Jr., while before the "gold corner" investigating committee at Washington: "Fisk, Jr., rolled into the committee with the life and uproar of a steam-tug. His short, fat person was set off in the loudest of clothes." A diamond gleamed from his cascade of white linen, like a head-light from a locomotive, while a huge cable gold chain fell in festoons from his neck, as far down as that part of his person where the leg ends and the body begins. His plaid pantaloons, of the pronounced pattern, and the black velvet jacket were of the sort, in the way of costume, one sees in low comedy upon the stage."

One of the missionary operations of the Quaker Indian Superintendents would furnish a new chapter for Sartor Resartus. Friend Janney, who has a primary school for the Winnebago papooses, finding that his pupils came to the academy with nothing on but blankets, has breeched and petticoated the tender crowd at his own expense; and the young savages now walk about in the attire of civilization. We should think that nothing could have a more subduing and [illegible] effect upon a young Indian than a pair of pantaloons; and if to these shall be added a regular jacket and vest, with the luxury of a paper collar, it would be impossible for a red boy to grow up with the least desire to scalp anybody.

One would suppose from Mr. Wells' statements that the pig iron manufacturers make nearly as much gold as iron. The wonder is that the great dry goods men do not forsake their business and take to pigs. There is a logic in investments. Capitalists, if they are shrewd, go into that which pays better than anything else. This is why Mr. Stewart [illegible] in dry goods and dips into a variety of other businesses, and keeps out of pig iron. The free-traders, now so clamorous in support of Mr. Wells, simply pursue the logic of investments and money making in trade. If there is so much profit in American pig iron making as he pretends, who believes that they would not dip into it and give up importing the foreign article?

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

The Solano (Cal.) Democrat says that it costs $6.87½ more to ship a ton of wheat from San Francisco in sacks than from Vallejo in bulk.

There has been much discussion with regard to the use of zinc for milk pans, instead of tin. The general impression is, that it should not be employed for such purpose. Probably the best material obtainable would be glass.

A number of gentlemen in Nashua, N. H., engaged in fish culture, have, as the result of about two years experiment, 100,000 trout in their ponds, covering about one and a half acres, and they have just placed an immense number of trout eggs in the water to increase the stock.

The Agriculturalist strongly recommends the currying of cows and fattening animals. Animals that are stabled need it more than those in the yard, but it is beneficial to both. They like it, and will generally stop eating to enjoy it. It is a practice which should become general and constant.

A writer in the Farmers' Advertiser says: "The usual mode of plucking live geese, is laborious in the extreme, and cruel, as the frequent shrieks of the tortured creatures testify. Shearing them would secure the finer and more choice parts of the feathers, and I have no doubt but the geese or ducks would thrive better and yield a coat oftener—and if not with better grace at least with better feelings."

The Ironton (Ohio) Register says: More pig iron was produced in this region last year than ever before, and for the coming year we expect an increase of 30 to 50 per cent. In this region, four new furnaces have been erected, and a number that were compelled to stop during free trade times put in blast again. A large number of new furnaces have lately gone into blast in the Mahoning region. Pennsylvania can boast of a wonderful increase. The Carondelet region in Missouri is filling up with furnaces. A number of stacks have been erected in Illinois. Indiana is building furnaces over beautiful coal fields. The worn-out stacks in Tennessee are being repaired, and new ones erected. The Marquette country is blazing with fresh fires. All over the country, wherever Nature has laid a store of coal and ore, new stacks are going up.

STEILACOOM, Feb. 5, 1870.

On Saturday, a half-breed by the name of John Colder, from Tualatin Plains, Oregon, was in Steilacoom drinking, and getting a bottle of whisky started home. On his way out, he stopped at the farm house of Wm. Northover, about eight miles from town. Here he acted improperly by running one of the old man's daughters about the place. The father interfered to save his child from the insults offered by Colder, and with some difficulty secured the girl, and Colder, seeing her gone, became angry at Northover for his interference. Colder seated himself on one bed and Northover on another opposite, when Colder coolly drew his pistol and shot Northover through the breast, the ball lodging in the back. The girl fled to some neighbors, who immediately went over, when Colder attempted to shoot one of them.

They immediately sent for the sheriff and medical aid. When sheriff Carson and his deputies arrived, they found Colder in a barn, watched by the neighbors to prevent his escape. It seems he became somewhat scared at what he had done, and tried to hide his pistol, but it was found the next day. After a severe struggle the Sheriff and posse succeeded in arresting and securing him, and he is now in jail. He waived an examination and was committed to jail by Justice Rogers, to await the next term of the District Court. He is now wearing a Gardner shackle.

Dr A. H. Steel, of Olympia, was summoned to attend the wounded man, and extracted the ball.

Colder is a young man, stands six feet high or over, and is a half brother to Chas. Wren, of Victoria. He took a prominent part with the Vigilance Committee, in the McDonald and Gibson affair, as also did Chas. Colder, a younger brother, and C. Wren, a nephew of Chas. Wren, of Victoria, for non-residents of the Territory.

I learn that the Vigilance Committee have decided that if old man Northover dies, Colder must hang. It will be well for Pierce county when the Wrens and Colders sell out and leave the county, for as long as they are here it will be in hot water, as it has always been.

TO THE TRADE.

New York, January 1, 1870.

IN VIEW OF THE ILLEGITIMATE IMPORTATION, by parties on the Pacific Coast, of the goods for which I am Sole Agent for the United States, and in order that purchasers of the same, through other sources than myself, may receive only goods bearing my counter-stamp, thereby protecting them against too frequent counterfeits and imitations, I have made arrangements with

USE NONE BUT THE BEST!

Thousands of worthless preparations are scattered broadcast over the land, purporting to be SPECIFICS for Consumption. Some may possess a little merit, but when it is known beyond the possibility of successful contradiction, that NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP has accomplished all that is claimed for it as a remedy for ALL affections of the CHEST and LUNGS, it seems little short of criminal neglect for persons requiring such a remedy to waste the "golden moment" in experimenting with any other. It is equally applicable and efficacious in all cases, young or old.

THE USUAL WAY OF NAILING LEATHER SOLES on Rubber Boots makes holes quite through the Soles, which are sure to leak. These Leather Soles are fastened by anchors embedded in the Rubber when the Boots are made, but do not go through the Soles. The Boots are therefore perfectly Water-Proof, and the Soles can be mended without making them leak. They will wear three or four times longer than the ordinary double-sole Rubber Boots.

Parlor Reading, No 2.—The ladies and gentlemen connected with the Unitarian church, will give their second entertainment this evening, at the Chapel room, corner Eighth and Yamhill streets. The following will be the programme of exercises:

Part I.—Piano Solo, Star Spangled Banner; Quartette, We left New England's Sunny Hills; Reading, The Actual and the Possible; Duet, When I know thou art near me—F. Abt; Reading, —— ——; Soprano Solo, "La Sœur des Rossignols."

Part II.—Flute Duet, Airs from Bellini; Trio, Donizetti; Reading, The Pipes at Lucknow—Whittier; Duet, Come with thy Lute to the Fountain; Soprano Solo, Scotch Ballad; Male Quartette, The Pirates' Glee.

Oro Fino Theater.—The attendance at this place of amusement last evening was rather small, in consequence of the inclement weather. The performance of the "Love Chase" was excellent, Mrs. Bates and Messrs. Bates and Vinson fairly outdoing themselves. The "Two Gregories" closed the evening's entertainment.

To-night the greatest bill of the season will be offered—the great historical drama of Nell Gwynne, or Court and Stage, with full costumes, scenery and stage effects, with Mrs. Bates in her great character of Nell Gwynne, supported by Messrs. Bates, Vinson and the full strength of the company.

The Webfoot.—The steamer California brings intelligence that the bark Webfoot sailed in over the bar on Sunday and up to Astoria, just in advance of the steamer. The Almatia, which sailed several days in advance, was off the bar awaiting a pilot. The Webfoot made the trip from San Francisco to Astoria in just a week. When she came over the bar the wind was blowing almost a gale. She had on her deck the locomotive "Oregon," which weighs over thirty-four tons. Under the circumstances, her sailing in was venturesome, but the steamer folks say she did it in gallant style.

Brief Mention.—The river has been rising since Friday. Well it might, as the rain has been doing just the reverse.

Large quantities of produce are accumulating at Oregon City and other points up the river. Considerable quantities, in excess of tonnage, are also being put in storehouse.

Two or three parties, whose names we did not get, were held by the Recorder to answer before the grand jury for swindling.

Judge Upton, yesterday, held George Green in the sum of $500 to answer before the grand jury for threats to kill.

U. S. District Court—Deady, Judge.—Proceedings of Monday, Feb. 14th:

Catlin, assignee of Randall & Sunderland vs. John R. Foster. Opinion delivered by the Court. Conclusion that defendant is entitled to a set off of $180 in coin, and that plaintiff have judgment for $458 88 in coin. Freidenrich for plaintiff. Logan for defendant.

In the matter of Ouimette, continued for further argument on demurrer to answer.

Adjourned until Monday.

A Short Jury Panel.—Of the thirty-one men summoned to serve as jurors at the present term of the Circuit Court, only ten, exclusive of the Grand Jury, appeared and were sworn. A venire for additional jurors was issued and the Sheriff summoned the following: O. D. Buck, B. Myers, James Price, J. Q. Ferguson, William Marony, K. Burkheimer, S. Brown, J. DeBoarst, W. Cunningham, D. Jacobi, J. Murphey, M. F. Gallagher, J. Sullivan, C. D. Burch, P. Finnigan.

A Quick Voyage.—At the store of H. W. Corbett & Co, Mr Millard was yesterday opening an invoice of hardware received per steamer Montana, which had arrived in sixty five days from Liverpool via the Isthmus. In old times, Mr. M informs us, it was not very uncommon for goods to be almost a year on the way. The goods were coming out bright as a new dollar and in splendid condition, having been packed in casks, with metallic air tight lining.

Personal.—Col. I. R. Moores, President of the East Side Railroad company, arrived down from Salem yesterday afternoon.

Joe Murphy and wife were also among the passengers by yesterday's boat from up river.

Mr. Jesse Applegate who has been all winter engaged in surveying various railroad routes beyond Eugene, is in town, stopping at the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

Washington Guard's Ball.—We are indebted to divers and sundry gentlemen of the Washington Guard persuasion for complimentary cards to their seventh annual Military and Civic ball, in honor of Washington's birth-day. The boys are getting up this entertainment with especial care and pains to make it the ball of the season, and we do not doubt that they will accomplish it.

St. Patrick's Day.—The various Hibernian organizations of this city are making preliminary arrangements for the celebration of St. Patrick's Day—March 17th. Committees have been appointed to confer together as to the manner and place of celebrating.

A Rejoinder.—Mr. Todd proposes to make a reply to Mr. Arnoup's late lecture at the M E Church, on spiritualism. He will speak at Harmony Hall, Wednesday evening, at half past seven o'clock. No charge for admission.

A Brick on Third Street.—The Call says: "We learn that John Wilson, Esq, of this city, is about closing a contract for the erection of a fine brick building on Third Street, between Alder and Morrison."

Portland Library.—"Autobiography and Personal Recollections of John B Gough," and P T Barnum's "Struggles and Triumphs," have been added to the library—very readable books, both.

Gone to Oregon City.—Quite a number of our young folks—mostly good looking young fellows—went up to Oregon City yesterday afternoon to attend the St. Valentine's ball.

For Victoria.—The steamship California, N L Rodgers, Commander, will sail for Victoria and Puget Sound on Thursday, the 17th at 4 o'clock P M.

Line Down.—The telegraph line was down a good part of the day yesterday. The Dalles line ditto. All on account of falling weather.

For San Francisco.—The steamship Montana, Fred Bolles, commander, will sail for San Francisco, at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mails per Steamer.—The California steamer mails will close at a quarter past three o'clock this afternoon.

Plummer.—This humorist will give an entertainment at East Portland this evening.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

There is as much contention over the authorship of "Shoo Fly" as over the birthplace of Homer.

The Boston Post says: A Vermonter sat down on a shingle shaver the other day. The doctor sewed him up and his wife sewed up his trousers.

A few days ago a [illegible] was killed near Devil's Bluff, Ark. The bear weighed, when dressed, [illegible] pounds, and its tusks were nine inches long.

Here are pleasing figures of the cost of hanging Pike, the Hampton Falls (N. H.) murderer: The gallows cost $150. The gallows was $250; the Sheriff's fee was $100 (not a bit too much), and the incidental expenses were $11.

Mr. Washburn of Wisconsin, in speaking the other day of the projected removal of the Capital, told the representatives that the project meant "taking from the people by taxation $100,000,000 to establish a new capital and erect public buildings."

A member of the Kentucky House, who was a member of the Confederate Congress, last week made a speech in which he earnestly denounced repudiation of the national debt, and asserted that he wished to see no more war in this country. "While I have no part or lot," he said, "in the creation of this mighty column of debt, I shall never reach forth my hand to repudiate it—never, never."

Memoirs of the late Col. Diehl are obtaining extensive circulation. The Chicago Republican says: "He was on board the Chesapeake, under command of the gallant Captain Lawrence, during Perry's victory on Lake Erie, was by the dying commander when the historic words 'Don't give up the ship,' were uttered, and was the very last man to leave the disabled ship." This is a decided mixture. The Philadelphia Ledger says the Colonel was "the first white child born west of the Alleghany Mountains."

It is the age of monument building. The long neglect of Columbus is to be interrupted and even Noah and Adam have been spoken of as deserving a recognition which many generations have failed to give them. Many Americans in their ignorance of the claims of Harald Haarfager will hear with indifference of the great movement to erect a monument to his memory, a thousand years after the date of his glory on earth, which is now agitating Norway and the Norwegians. But there are more of sense in the scheme than is always to be found in such projects. It was in the year 872 that Harald of the Fair Hair reduced the petty estates of Norway to one nation, and gave it a higher position in Europe, which it long held. The approach of the thousandth anniversary of their unity has moved the people and the rulers of Norway to celebrate it by erecting a splendid lighthouse on the coast near Haarfagar's grave, where it will be of great benefit to the mariner. The work of raising funds to aid this enterprise in this country is headed by Ole Bull, who is chairman of the national committee, who has himself subscribed a large sum, and who purposes, during the extensive concert tour on which he is just setting out, to form sub committees all over the country. Perhaps if America assists her venerable neighbor with liberality in this little matter, we shall get some aid from young Norway when we undertake to celebrate, in our age and decrepitude, our own thousandth birthday in 2776.

Free Trade or Protection in France—Lord Clarendon's Visit to Paris.

[From the N Y Herald, Jan 28.]

A really serious legislative and governmental crisis has come upon France. The question of the formal adoption of the principal of free trade or the reaffirmation of that of protection are plainly and pointedly before the French people, their parliamentary representatives and the executive. They cannot be set aside. The great empire—its trading, financial and home industrial interests—is moved to the center and stands forth with its mind vibrating between the recollections of the operation of the famous Berlin decrees of Napoleon the First and its present experiences of the working of the Anglo French treaty of 1860 and the diplomacy of Richard Cobden and Napoleon the Third. Lord Clarendon has arrived at the Tuileries for the purpose of a temporary personal treatment of the case, and it may be affirmed that no British minister or representative of that nation has had a more important mission in the French capital since the time of the occupation of Paris by the troops of allied Europe and the day of the Cobden-Bonaparte negotiation. The great interests of the French empire, with the millions of the working classes, are against free trade. M. Thiers proclaims the danger of the occasion. M. Schneider, presiding officer of the Legislative body, who is proprietor of the works at La Creusot, has returned to Paris, and openly charges Englishmen with having fomented the late dangerous trade "strikes" at that place designedly and for the commercial gain of their country. The Anglo-French commercial treaty of 1860 will expire by its own limitation on the 4th day of February. The important question remains, will it—can it be renewed? The trading interests of the countries have become so complexedly interlaced that it appears almost impossible to again disunite them. The artisans and laborers of France, the shipbuilders of Havre, the workmen of Lyons, however, demand it. Can Napoleon refuse? Can Lord Clarendon tide his Majesty over the crisis? It is impossible to predict. It may be affirmed, however, that the commercial question of France overshadows those of Rome, Rochefort and Pierre Bonaparte in its solidarity, actualities and necessity. Fully convinced of the truth of this grand fact, we to day illustrate our cable telegrams on the subject by the publication of all the main facts and essential provisions of the Anglo French commercial treaty of 1860.

Valuable.—The recent bill before Congress granting aid for the construction of a railroad from the Columbia river to Puget Sound, if passed will make the large tracts of coal and timber lands owned by the Puget Sound Homestead Association on the Skookum Chuck and Newaukum very valuable.

A few shares only remain untaken and can be had at the office of the Secretary or of Mr Conklin, Canvassing Agent.

It matters not how hard it rains or how gloomy the day is, those beautiful Diamonds, Garnets, Moss Agates and other precious stones, set in fine burnished gold, at R L Stone's, gleam and sparkle with rare beauty. And the darker the day and the duller the times the cheaper he sells.

Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock, in Harmony Hall, Benjamin Todd will reply to the lecture delivered in the Methodist church on Saturday evening last, by John Arnoup. Admission free. f15d2t

The Sewing Machine most generally used by the principal dress and cloak makers is the Grover & Baker. Wm. Currier & Co., Agents.

Railroad matters are very likely to be lively this spring. The East Side Company will engage a large force of men to complete their road to Albany, and the West Side Company will, very probably, build a portion of their road in order to obtain a land grant to facilitate the building of their line to McMinnville. Kohn & Fisher are keeping up with railroad times. Their stock of spring goods coming across the continent by rail will be the largest and finest stock of Clothing ever imported to this State. Their stock in store now is offered very low to make room for large arrivals. They are manufacturing the neatest Boys' Suits and always have on hand a large stock of the same which are offered at lowest figures.

Removal.—J W Campbell has removed his new Patent Bed Bott manufactory to Messrs Jensen & Rethlefsen's Cabinet and Carpenter shop, southeast corner of Morrison and Fourth streets. Although but recently introduced, the Mlures ? Bed Bottom is fast coming into general use and is giving general satisfaction. Come and see it. j29d1m

The Season and its Dangers.

The human body is chiefly composed of tissues or fibres as sensitive to every change in the condition of the atmosphere as the most delicate electric meter or the quicksilver in a barometer tube.

The stomach, the skin, the nerves, the lungs and the excretory organs are especially liable to be affected by these variations, and the best defence against their noxious tendency is to keep the digestive machinery, which feeds and nourishes the whole system in good working order.

If the stomach is weak or disordered neither the blood nor the bile can be in a healthy state, and for the fitness of these two important fluids for the offices assigned to them by nature, and the regularity of their flow, health in a great measure depends.

When the air is heavily laden with chilling humid vapors, digestion should be an object of peculiar care. If it is weak and languid, the whole physical structure will be enervated. If it is vigorous, the entire organization will be strong to resist the untoward and depressing influence of a damp and vitiated atmosphere.

A pure and powerful tonic is therefore especially needed as a safeguard against the diseases most common in the wet season, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters being the most wholesome and potent medicine of the class at present known, a course of it is particularly advisable at this time.

The stomach will thereby be toned and strengthened, the liver and bowels regulated, the nervous system braced up and nature put in a state of active defence against the miasma which superinduces intermittent and remittent fevers, rheumatism, nervous debility, headache, hypochondria and other complaints which are apt to assail the untoned and unfortified organizations. The body is strengthened without exciting the brain, and consequently no unpleasant reaction follows its reviving and renovating operation.

It stimulates the Liver and Kidneys to healthy action, regulates the Bowels, cures Piles and Dyspepsia. Persons subject to Billious attacks and those suffering from the effects of Fever and Ague, or any injudicious use of Quinine and Mercury will find Pratt's New Life invaluable. Price $1 00.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS &c, as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E B MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,
A L WALLACE	G B WARD,
Mrs MONTGOMERY	JOHN M HOLLOWAY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing scourge of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

s, they have fried him!"

I laid down the breast bone of deceased and burst into tears also. Such is the sympathetic power of grief. It was nothing to me whether they fried him or boiled him, it was nothing to me how this poor foreigner was cooked, I was only eating him out of a vain curiosity, and not because I loved him, not because I respected him, not because I wished to curry favor with his relatives. Yet I wept.

"They have fried him!" said the King. "Alas, poor Gualtier. However, let us cheer up, let us be content. But I will have my cook for breakfast for this and I will try him, and see how he likes it. There is nothing like a sharp example, to teach a man, my friend. But don't be idle, sir, take some more of the fried Frenchman. I ought to be ashamed to offer such a dish, but you see how I am situated. He ought to have been baked—this fellow ought. We always bake a Frenchman—we never think of frying him. But I wish you had known this fellow—so kind, so gentle, so loving, and you see yourself how tender he is. But that Williams business. I wish you would straighten that up for me when you go back to America. If your people could only know the facts in the case, they would not blame me. It is a little hard, after I have spent all these years in building up a good name, to have it all knocked in the head by this shabby adventure. Now what he called a "hideous revel," and a "feast of devils," and all that sort of vile and wicked names, was nothing in the world. I give you my sacred honor, but a simple barbacue—seventeen old crippled natives, no account under the sun, just an expense to the community, and I fricasseed them to give a little treat to some visiting town chiefs, (Aldermen you call them in your country,) who were here for a day or two from Wonga Island. "Feast of devils," indeed! Feast of dried-up, skinny old rapscallions that the island is a thousand times better off without, and I am sure it was honorable in us to be hospitable to those strangers. Though between you and me, it was an awful swindle on them—tough, oh, don't mention it!—more cholera morbus and indigestion, and general suffering among these chiefs, you never saw the like of it in your life! Now Twain, you see how much truth there was in Williams' statements?—all that row about nothing. You can set this thing right in your country—you can do it easy—simply just explain the facts—and anything I can do for you, I'll do it—you can depend on me. Send me a copy of your Weekly. I can't read it, but a little literature can't hurt a man anyhow. Cæsar's ghost!"

"Oh Heaven! what is the matter, your gracious majesty?

"Oh, misery! Oh, murder, Oh, desperation!"

"Oh, what is it, your imperial majesty!—I beseech you."

He had sprung to his feet, and his fixed eyes were staring wildly at the fried meat before him.

"Oh, my brain reels! This hair a Frenchman's hair? There must be some mistake! A horrid suspicion burst upon me! Ah, what is this I see?—this thing?—this accusing mark! A strawberry on the left arm!—it is, it is, my long-lost brother!"

Alas, it was even so. It was his long-lost brother—what was left of him. Poor, poor fellow, he was only fit to be shoveled into a basket and given to the poor, now. The king fell to the floor insensible. He grew worse and worse, and the next day his removal to the country was ordered. Many sympathizing relatives and friends followed the palanquin and did what they could to alleviate the sufferings of their unhappy sovereign.

It turned out afterward that the sweetheart of the Frenchman had made a surreptitious exchange of marketing in the king's kitchen before daylight on that fatal day. She had bought the king's brother from a wandering tribe that belonged in the great wilderness at the other end of the island. She bought him purposely to make that exchange, though of course she did not know who he was. The girl and the Frenchman escaped from the island in a canoe that very night, and were happily married. Or drowned, I don't know which. I would have liked to taste that Frenchman.

—This is the process really followed in all the fic Islands.—MARK TWAIN.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, Feb. 14, 1870.

Portland Legal Tender rates to-day, selling, 8[illegible].

Beyond the receipts of heavy quantities of produce from the Willamette valley, there is nothing new to report in the produce market. The amount already [illegible] and is beyond the available shipping facilities, and is constantly growing larger by daily arrivals by steamer. The [illegible] will take away a full cargo to-morrow, and the [illegible], due here to-morrow morning will load and sail with dispatch. In prices there is no improvement. Butter is in excessive supply and prices tend downward. We hear of one sale to-day of considerable quantity, of extra choice, at 25 cents but this is an exceptional figure, the average price for common ordinary and to good, being not over 18 to 20 cents.

Barley—A lot of brewing sold to-day at $1 30 per 100 lbs.

Eggs—Wholesale average price 16 cts.; retailing from grocers' stores at 20 cents. Beyond these, no change to note.

Dry Goods—Trade dull, quotations unchanged. Jobbing business in general is very light, even for the season—always the dullest of the year.

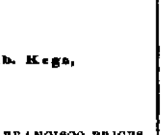
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies. see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.
Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

What the Hon. W. T. Ballou says about the "King of Pain."

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 7, 1869.

Dr. J. J. McBride—Having suffered with sciatic rheumatism some months, I was induced to use your "King of Pain." I take pleasure in recommending it to those afflicted with rheumatism. I know of several cases of neuralgia that have been cured by using it.

W. T. BALLOU, of Elko, Nevada.

Card from Harbor Master.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 2, 1869.

To Dr. McBride—This is to certify that I have been troubled with neuralgia in my right arm and hand for the past three months, and although I have had medical advice, and tried a number of remedies, none has relieved me until I tried Dr. McBride's "King of Pain," which has done me more good than all the other remedies I have tried.

DR. J. J. M'BRIDE,

TELLS YOUR DISEASE WITHOUT ASKING ANY QUESTIONS!

A CARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 10, 1869.

DR. McBRIDE—My Dear Sir: For the last six or seven years I have been afflicted with rheumatic pains, from my knees down, embracing all the joints of ankle and toes. These pains have come upon me periodically every year, about this season of the year. My knees and ankles, and toe joints, and my wrists and finger joints would swell and leave me in the most agonizing pain, known only to those who have suffered from this dread malady. These pains would continue for a period of from three to four months every year, and they have been regular, unfailing annual visitors. I have been accustomed to apply for relief to the best citizens of San Francisco, and have not failed to use all the popular remedies known to the public. I would sometimes receive temporary relief, after long continued application, but it would never fail to return in a few days with increased severity.

About two weeks ago, while my pains were upon me, I saw you at the corner of one of our streets, and heard what you said about your "King of Pain." I confess that I listened to you with deep distrust, indeed, I may say that I did not believe your statements. "Still," thought I, "it's only a dollar, and I'll patronize the 'humbug' one dollar's worth." I bought a bottle and tried it first on my knee, which was fearfully swollen, and from which I suffered very severely. The second night I tried it again, and my dear Doctor, you can judge of my surprise, ecstacy and delight, altogether, when I found on rising the second morning, that my pains were entirely gone and the swelling entirely disappeared. My knee joints were as supple as when I was young. I actually danced with delight, much to the amusement of my friends, who had been in the habit of regarding me as a decrepid old rheumatic. It has now been two weeks, and I have not felt the least symptom of return. I believe I am cured, and I feel so grateful to you that I offer you this statement, verified by my oath, to be used by you in whatever way you may think proper, and I feel it a duty to let others similarly afflicted know where they can find relief.

I am, yours, very truly, RAPHAEL LOOKAYSE.

State of California, city and county of San Francisco. On this 16th day of October, 1869, personally appeared before me, a Justice of the Peace in and for the city and county of San Francisco aforesaid, Raphael Lookayse, known to me to be the person who signed the foregoing letter, and who being by me duly sworn, deposes and says the contents thereof are true.

T. W. TALIAFERRO, Justice of the Peace.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Grateful for the eminent services of Dr. J. J. McBride, I cheerfully make a statement of the following facts: For twelve months I had suffered from prostration of my nervous system, resulting in partial paralysis and almost total loss of sight. A score of physicians had abandoned my case as hopelessly incurable, I had even heard my days numbered by doctors and friends. In the agonies of my neuralgia pain, I sought the great "King of Pain." Under that benign influence, in one half hour I had obtained more medical aid than I had known for long weary months. My sight was so much restored that I could read print, although I had needed a guide to find Dr. McBride's office an hour before. Before leaving him I had regained the use of my almost palsied limbs, and seemingly my strength had returned, while all those aches and pains, my constant companions, were dissipated and gone. It is now ten days since I undertook treatment with Dr. McBride, and I can say unhesitatingly that I am restored as I could not have expected to have been in so little time. My eyesight is most perfectly regained, my whole physical system corrected and more doubted health.

My residence is in Reading [illegible]. Business at No. [illegible] Cambridge street, in this city, where I will willingly vouch in person for the truth of the foregoing to any one interested.

[illegible] T. GREENWOOD.

P. S. I have done business in this city for twenty years. Thousands of citizens know me. T. G.
